Description: Communication Lines Malfunctions

The starboard board in the tenth tier of the main control centre of the communications central hub was acting erratically. Various lines connecting to random engineering personnel and a Specialist Dave Fenne on a visitation to the generator room were flooded with an audiobook that has been identified by a Dr. Laurel Scoresby in R&D as 'Le Petit Prince' by author Antoine de Saint-Exupéry.

It was successfully brought back online following activating the troubleshooting and diagnostics protocol with U.R.S.A. An inquiry has been sent to the relevant library staff. This ticket is a matter of posterity, do not contact me with follow up responses.
